Bully, Bullied or Bystander

3-hour
Online Seminar
For
Only $25

School-Related Professionals (SRPs) are more likely to witness bullying during the school day because the people who bully tend to use less structured areas — the cafeteria, playground, hallways and bus — as venues to bully others. This seminar provides an overview of bullying and its impact on the school environment. It defines bullying and cyberbullying, covers the roles of the person bullying and the person being bullied, discusses the responsibilities of the person who sees or knows about the bullying, and offers strategies to help prevent or decrease bullying.

To all SRP members,

I am proud to announce the second online seminar for School-Related Professionals through NYSUT's Education & Learning Trust: Bully, Bullied or Bystander. This three-hour seminar will help you understand what bullying is and will offer strategies to help you respond more effectively to students, whether they are the bully, the one being bullied or a bystander. Its content is based on the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA). You can learn at your own pace using your home computer, and the cost is minimal compared to the benefit of learning new skills to grow in your job! Questions? Please contact ELT at 800-528-6208.
